

A world map showing the distribution of various countries. The map uses different colors to highlight specific regions: North America (USA, Canada) is orange; Mexico is grey; Central America and the Caribbean are grey; South America is grey; Europe is grey; Africa is grey; Asia is grey; Australia is orange; New Zealand is dark red; and several countries in the Middle East and Central Asia are highlighted in blue and light blue.

